Collin Blossoms in Brookfield

When we met Collin, he had lost his placement at another agency due to challenging behaviors. Collin is non-verbal, diagnosed with autism and has difficulties developing social relationships.

Due to his diagnosis, Collin can be sensitive to touch, crowded places, and loud noises. So, the first thing CSS did was make sure he was comfortable at the Brookfield group residence, his new home.

Soon his staff learned that Collin loved the outdoors, so they began daily walks. They were specially trained to accommodate him and provide the personalized care he needed. They transformed his diet and introduced him to CSS' new Community360 Day Program in Cicero where he can do his favorite activities like puzzles and coloring in a quiet environment that suits his needs.

Celebrating one year at the Brookfield home, Collin has lost over 100 pounds bringing him to a healthy weight! He continues to succeed every day and has started to join group activities. Your support of CSS has helped Collin thrive and live a healthy, happy life.
